Candy Bar Gazebo

Issue 49, Winter, 1995 The Confectionery Goodies Journal

The Saturday Evening Post, December 20, 1957

IMPORTANT NOTICE

All good times must come to an end, and that's why this will be the last issue of Candy Bar Gazebo. News about old candy bars and old candy companies has been getting more and more difficult to obtain, and columnist Harry Levene of England passed away August 11, 1995. His last two columns appear in this, the last issue of Candy Bar Gazebo.

Publishing this periodical over the years has been a pleasure, and I will still continue on with the hobby of collecting candy bar memorabilia and the establishing of a candy museum. It's just the responsibility of putting out a quarterly publication of which I'll be relieved. To all of you out there who shared with me the delight of coming across a new old candy wrapper I say, "On with the game!"

JOHN G. WOODWARD & CO.

Warren Schimpff, Claremont, CA, sent along articles on the old Woodward Company of Council Bluffs, Iowa. The company was started in 1885. At the height of its sales about 1920, the company sold two million pounds of candy and employed 600 to 1,000 workers. The company used two little people, Jean and Inez Bregant, to promote candies made by Woodward's. Shown is an old advertising card featuring them.

One of the bars made by Woodward was the Lily White bar. The company was sold to Fenn Bros., Inc. Sioux Falls, S.D., making such bars as Butter Brickle and Walnut Crush. Heath then took over Fenn Bros, Inc.

NEW TO CANDY BAR GAZEBO IN 1995

Made in Belgium and distributed in the U.S. by Guylian U.S.A. Inc., Englewood Cliffs, NJ, is the Guylian Milk Chocolate bar with Hazelnuts bar.

Made in Germany and sold in the U.S. is the Endler Nougat bar, made by Joseph Wendler of Nurnberg.

New from Mars are M&M's Mini's made especially for kids. Ten boxes of the Mini's come packaged in a toy such as a school bus. Later toys will be a fire truck and a circus train.

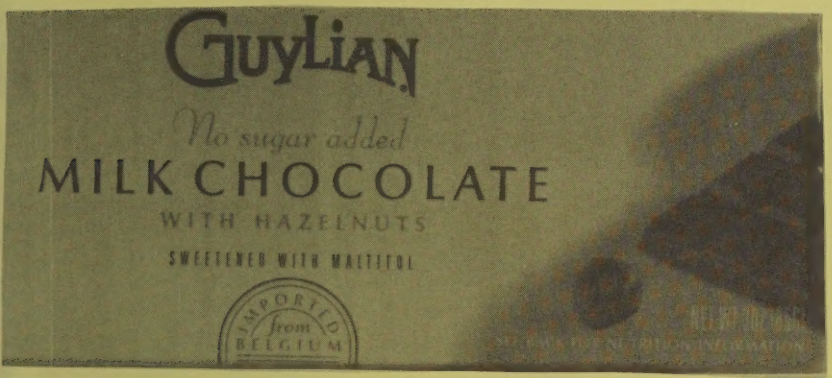
Newman's Own Organics is run by Paul Newman's daughter, Nell. That company produces chocolate bars made with only organic ingredients.

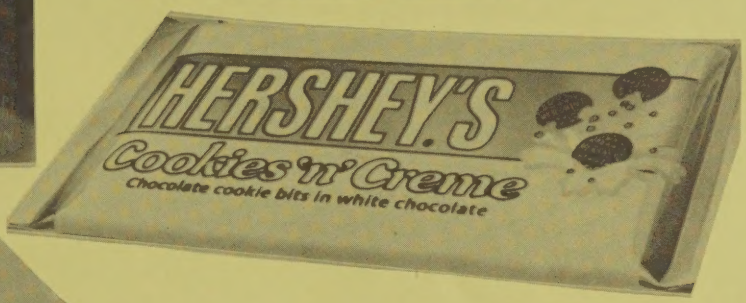
New from Hershey is the Hershey's Cookies 'n' Creme bar, chocolate cookie bits in white chocolate.

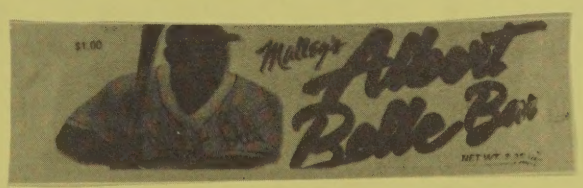
Also new from Mars are Starburst Jellybeans with real fruit juice and a great fruit taste.

The Mars bar has a new wrapper with "Chocolate Almond Bar" on it.

New from Malley's Chocolates, Inc., Cleveland, OH, is the Albert Belle Bar, named after the Cleveland Indians outfielder and slugger.







One of the wrappers Terry sent along was the Buckingham Palace Milk Chocolate bar. He said the contents were very disappointing, the chocolate almost rubber-like in consistency, the taste insipid. He also sent along the Dutch Milk Bar wrapper, made by Boon of Holland. Also from the same country, the Van Houten milk chocolate wrapper and the Van Dungen milk chocolate wrapper. From the Philippines came the Imperial Milk Chocolate wrapper, Imperial Candy Factory. From England came the Nestlé Animal Bar wrapper.
